

GIRL FOUND DEAD IN RAINES HOTEL

Police Puzzled as to Manner in Which Katherine Callahan Met Her Death in a Second Avenue Resort.

DETAIN TEN MEN THEY FOUND IN THE PLACE.

Left Her Home a Month Ago and Was the Daughter of a Former Court Warden and Prominent Politician.

Katherine Callahan, thirty years old, daughter of the late Thomas J. Callahan, formerly Court Warden and a well-known politician, left her home at No. 57 Park avenue, where she lived with her mother and grandmother, a month ago. Since that time they have been nothing of her. To-day she was found dead in bed in a Raines law hotel owned by David Ahearn, at No. 1319 Second avenue.

Thomas Callahan died about six years ago. He had three children—Katherine, Elizabeth, and a son, who is now married. Up to the time of her father's death the daughters did not work. Since his death the family has occupied a flat at No. 57 Park avenue.

The grandmother, who was seen to-day, said that Katy announced a month ago that she was going to take a position as housekeeper on Fifth avenue. She left home and did not return.

Roundman Charles Zanes, of the East Sixty-seventh street station, was on Second avenue early to-day when a man came up and informed him that there was a sick woman and some trouble at Ahearn's Hotel.

Zanes made the man accompany him and found the front and bedroom of the hotel locked. He was accompanied by two policemen and their knocks on the side door quickly brought Ahearn, the proprietor.

On the second floor there is a large room in which were tables, and off this were two small bedrooms. In one of these Zanes found the body of the girl, clothed only in a light undergarment.

As the police were going up the stairs seven men came out of the big front room and attempted to go out. They were stopped. Three or four others were found in the front room, and these, too, were detained.

An ambulance was summoned from the Presbyterian Hospital, and Dr. Kingsbury, who accompanied the ambulance, said the girl had been dead a couple of hours. There were no marks of any kind on the body, and he would not give any opinion as to the cause of her death.

Ahearn, on being questioned, said that he had been informed by a man who knew the girl that she was sick at about 11:30 last night. He said he had sent to Gladstone, near Fifty-sixth street, for a physician, and that when one arrived he said that the woman was dead. Ahearn did not explain his reason for not informing the police or Coroner of the girl's death.

Ahearn and the ten men who were found in the place were taken to the East Sixty-seventh street station, and later to the Yorkville Court, where they were all held for the Coroner.

Miss Callahan first made her appearance at Ahearn's about a week ago, it was said. Three of the men arrested said they had become acquainted with her.

The men and the woman who were arrested, when arraigned in the Yorkville Court, gave the following names: James Hanley and wife, Elizabeth; No. 25 West One Hundred and Ninth street; Patrick S. Clifford, No. 21 East Sixty-fifth street; John Fleming, No. 21 East Sixty-fifth street; John Henry, No. 21 East Sixty-fifth street; Thomas J. Flaherty, No. 21 East Sixty-fifth street; John Rynders, No. 42 East Eighty-fifth street; George Seale, No. 202 East Eighty-fifth street; John Hart, No. 533 East Eighty-fifth street.

BAR IS BARRED IN THE WOMAN'S HOTEL

Fair Guests of Martha Washington Who Crave Stimulants Will Have to Continue to Smuggle Them in Their Muffs.

Alas for the hopes that surged high at the breasts of the fair patrons of the Martha Washington Hotel and who are not members of the W. C. T. U. There will be no barroom, with polished glasses and mirrors, in connection with the hotel. Manager Cass has declared it. Tea and toast will continue to be the only intoxicants dispensed in the feminine canteen.

It is supposed the suggestion that drinks be added to the menu emanated from such guests as are not opposed to liquor. Some of the more hopeful looked forward to the establishment of a bar, where they would be fitted up like a cozy corner, and in which no man would be allowed.

Others suggested that the best mixer of fancy drinks to be obtained in the city should be employed. And then the sisters of the W. C. T. U. arose in their wrath and shrieked for the honor of their collective fireside.

Manager Cass interrupted their indignation meeting with the statement that such a thing as the establishment of a bar or the selling of drinks in the Martha Washington Hotel had never been contemplated for a moment.

Those who desired admitting beverages were to their rooms and were to be compelled to carry the bottles into the hotel in their muffs, handbags, or heretofore.

Temperance has triumphed and the women rum has been handed a blow that will sting for years.
